general ways to tell pigs apart:

- Sex characteristics: idk if i should explain but you can look at their back area
- Coat: color, pattern, markings, fluffiness
- Ears: size, shape, presence of notches/holes
- Body size/shape
- Nose: size, snouth length, color
- Tusks: presence/absence, shape, length
- Eyes: color, size, chape
- Tail: size, fluffiness, curliness
- Vibes, energy, etc.

how to actually tell them apart:

Pink pigs: Kitty, George, Willie

- Kitty is female and has huge, pointy, “kitty cat” ears
- George is male, is the biggest, and has a snout that’s turned up as if he’s permanently upset because he’s “king george”
- Willie is male and has a long, pointy snout and long, spindly legs

Black and pink “oreo” pigs: Dahlia, Hank, Molly, and Pixie

- Dahlia is female and has notches in her ears. Molly is her daughter!
- Molly is female and has no notches in her ears
- Hank is male and has tusks and a long snout
- Pixie is female and very short! She has notches on her ears but is much younger than Dahlia and with a longer snout

Pink with black splotches: Loretta

- Loretta is the only big kid that is pink with black splotches
- She is pink and black like the “oreo patterned” pigs, but she has spots, including spots around her eyes
- Look for spots!!!

All black fur: Raymond

- Raymond is the only big kid with all black hair
- His hair is also very fluffy
- He is the handsomest so you will definitely recognize him

Raymond
