general ways to tell pigs apart:

- Sex characteristics: idk if i should explain but you can look at their back area
- Coat: color, pattern, markings, fluffiness
- Ears: size, shape, presence of notches/holes
- Body size/shape
- Nose: size, snouth length, color
- Tusks: presence/absence, shape, length
- Eyes: color, size, chape
- Tail: size, fluffiness, curliness
- Vibes, energy, etc.

how to actually tell them apart:

Mostly black pigs: Bianca, Eleanor, and Wilbur

- Bianca is female and her front left foot is white. She has no white forehead patch, but has white on her snout
- Eleanor is female with all white feet. She has a white forehead patch.
- Wilbur is male, has tusks, has a forehead patch, and white feet

Bianca

Eleanor

Wilbur

“Marbled” coats: Dora and Georgie

- Dora has mostly black hair, but some white splashes. There is white under her chin and a white splash between her eyes.
- Georgie has a lot more white on her. She has white hair around her right eye

Dora

Georgie

Black and pink “oreo” pigs: Horatio and Imogen

- Horatio is male, has tusks, and all 4 of his feet are pink
- Imogen is female, does not have tusks, and her back left foot is black

Unique coats: Atlas, Bates, Rebel, and Thomas

- Atlas is the only Yaupon pig that has orange fur with brown spots
- Bates is the only pig in the Yaupon group that is gray with white flecks in his coat
- Rebel is the only Yaupon pig that's gray with black spots
- Thomas is the only pig in the Yaupon group that has all black hair. He doesn't have any white spots on his body.
